FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ImageBEAM’s New Location Strengthens a Business Relationship

The Company Relocates to Share Offices with Irvine-based Marketing Communications Firm Keith N. Thomas Design

IRVINE, Calif. – Sept. 1, 2008 – Supporting the position that companies that partner together are greater than the sum of its parts, ImageBEAM, a web and rich media development firm that enables small and medium-sized businesses to make an impact online, announced today that it has relocated to the Irvine offices of Keith N. Thomas Design, at 17961 Cowan, Irvine, CA 92614.

ImageBEAM and Keith N. Thomas Design (KNT), one of the nation’s leading design communications and marketing firms, have collaborated on a number of client engagements in the past. Their joint capabilities provide an even more attractive service offering for significant SoCal clients.

“We are excited to be sharing space with Keith N. Thomas Design,” said Liam Kennedy, CEO of ImageBEAM. “This was a very natural move for ImageBEAM, having worked with KNT many times over since 2003. ImageBEAM services are very complimentary to those of KNT, so we look forward to increased opportunities for us to add value to each other’s clients.”

Besides better synergy, the new offices provide ImageBEAM with additional space to expand and accommodate its sales team and to fit its extensive media production and editing equipment.

“We are thrilled to welcome Liam’s company to our location,” said Norm Broadhurst, President & CEO of Keith N. Thomas Design. “When marketing demands rich media to deliver a powerful message, I turn to ImageBEAM to give customers a great final product.”

Along with rich media production and streaming, ImageBEAM specializes in web design, eCommerce and Intranet/Extranet development.
